USHIT - THE ULTIMATE SHIT

USHIT is a A Deflationary Community Meme Token with a Burn & Redistribution System built securely on the Binance Smart Chain network to offer a secure investment opportunity to everyone looking for a moonshot opportunity in the meme coins. The token has multiple deflationary features and strong holding incentives such as the burn and re-distribution system.

The Shit Tokenomics

2% Burns: 2% of every swap transaction is sent to the burn wallet. The active reduction of the token supply makes USHIT deflationary and creates scarcity of the tokens in long term.

2% Reflections: 2% of every USHIT swap transaction is re-distributed as automated farming rewards to the token holders. The rewards distribution system is improved to make sure the tokens are redistributed among holders and not burn wallets or liquidity pools.

Total Supply: 100 Million

Shit Taxes

USHIT token collects a tax of 5% of every swap transaction for the development of the project. The token offers taxless transfers.

TAX BREAKDOWN

Reflection	2%
Burn	2%
Project Tax	5%

Slippage Required: 9%

How is USHIT Different ?

No reflectionary burns: The major RFI tokens in the crypto market claim they burn 2% and gives 2% reflections to its holders. They enable this functionality by sending 50% of the supply to burn wallet before adding liquidity and dead address collects the major share of the reflections by becoming the major holder. The reflections to dead wallet increase with increase in the number of transfers and this results in lesser reflections to the holders of the token.

In USHIT, dead wallets and liquidity pool is excluded from receiving reflections and therefore, the holders receive 2% of every transaction as redistribution throughout the lifetime of the token.

How is USHIT Different ?

USHIT takes 2% of every transaction as burn tax and sends them to the burn wallet and the other 2% is redistributed among the holders.

During the launch of USHIT, no tokens were sent to the burn wallet before adding liquidity aka initial burns.

Therefore, every tokens in burn wallet are sent from the liquidity pool and they increases the stability of the token over time.
